

Every occupation has certain requirements. Carpenters must know how to read building plans. Sales people must know how to close a sale. Customer-Service people must know how to work with difficult people. Managers must know how to motivate people to get the job done. What's the right stuff for your occupation? Don't guess. Find out. Show that you have the specific skills employers are looking for.

Your assignment: You will use the website indeed.com to look up the specific job you intend to work after you graduate from High School and/or College. You will find specific details relating to that job and fill out the table below. You will make up any information just so you can get an idea of what is required for the job. I have provided an example for you.

EXAMPLE

1 - Name the job you want
2 - List the requirements of the job (You MUST list three)
A.
3a - Select the first requirement from your list
4a - Give an example of when and how you performed it
5a - Add some detail
3b - Select the second requirement from your list
4b - Give an example of when and how you performed it
5b - Add some detail
3c - Select the third requirement from your list

4c - Give an example of when and how you performed it

--

5c - Add some detail

--